LEGISLATURE TO START

Meets Today With Democrats In Overwhelming Control.

SENATORSHIP IS SETTLED

Close Contest For Speaker Between Terrell And Schobert.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 1.—The Kentucky legislature will convene at Frankfort Tuesday for what is expected to be an important session. The Democrats who are in control of both houses and who adopted a platform at the last election, for the first time in twelve years, are pledged to several reforms. Among these are the withdrawal of the prisons from politics, revision of the tax system, adoption of the county unit, enactment of a road improvement law and the adoption of the direct primary.

A joint caucus, at which Congressman Ollie James of the first congressional district, endorsed in the state primary, will be declared the party nominee for United States senator, has been called, though his election is assured.

The contest for the speakership between Claude Terrell and H. A. Schobert is unsettled at this time with both claiming enough votes to win to-night.

SATE IN JAIL HERE AT LAST

Telegrams Still Coming in Asking That He Be Held in Custody.

J. W. Baily, the man who worked several citizens on a calendar scheme, was arrested at Glasgow last week through the help of Paul Winn, who got on his track while visiting friends there. He had the smooth young man taken in charge and he was brought here and on trial was held over and committed to jail under a bond of $200, which he failed to give. It came out in proof that he got $5 each from Paul Winn, L. A. Johnson & Co., Thacker & Thomas, N. Stadelman and H. C. Moore.

Telegrams have been coming in every day from other cities where he worked the same game. Besides Glasgow he worked Russellville and Pleasureville, Ky. Yesterday another telegram was received asking that he be held for the same offense at West Point, Miss.

Baily is a rather nice looking young fellow, who protests his innocence of any intention to swindle, but he is deep in the toils of the law.
